DETAILED ACTION

1 This action is responsive to the amendment filed on October 14, 2004.

2 The cancellation of claim 9 is acknowledged. Pending claims are 1-8 and 10-30.

3 Objection to claims 1, 4, 16, 19, 21 and 28 is withdrawn because of the applicant's amendment.

4 Claims 1, 3-5, 10-22 and 26-30 stand rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3, 5-10 and 12-14 of the co-pending Application No. 10/667,958 for the reasons set forth in the previous office action that mailed on July, 14, 2004.

5 Claims 1-8, 11-15, 17, 19-27 and 29 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by or, in alternative, under 103(a) obvious over Dias et al. (US 6,004,355) for the reasons set forth in the previous office action that mailed on July, 14, 2004.

6 Claim 10 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dias et al. (US 6, 004, 355) in view of Wenke (US 5, 100, 436) for the reasons set forth in the previous office action that mailed on July, 14, 2004.

7 Claims 16, 18, 28 and 30 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dias et al. (US 6, 004, 355) for the reasons set forth in the previous office action that mailed on July, 14, 2004.

Response to Applicant's Arguments

8 Applicant's arguments filed 10/14/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Art Unit: 1751

With respect to the rejection of the claims under 102(b) and/or 103(a) based upon Dias et al. (US' 355), Applicant argues that the peroxyacids taught by Dias et al. have oxidizing aids in the range of 7 to 9.5 and at pH 10, the peroxyacid oxidizing aids become deprotonated and as such are weaker oxidizing agents and at pH above 8, the peroxyacid oxidizing aids are more damaging to hair than oxidizing agents such as hydrogen peroxide.

The examiner respectfully disagrees with the above arguments because Dias et al. teaches clearly that the compositions comprise an essential feature at least one water-soluble peroxygen dye oxidizing agent (a compound which can be substantially solubilized in water) such as inorganic materials capable of yielding hydrogen peroxide in an aqueous solution and these peroxygen dye oxidizing compounds are well known in the art and include hydrogen peroxide (see col. 5, lines 40-49) and wherein the composition has a pH of 10 which is within the range of the of the amended claims (see col. 32, line 65). Therefore, the claims are anticipated by or in alternative obvious over Dias et al.

With respect to the rejection of the claims based upon Dais et al. (US' 355) in view of Wenke (US' 436), Applicant argues that the combination of the references does not teach or suggest all of the applicant's claim limitations. Applicant also argues that Wenke teaches a composition in the form of an emulsion and therefore, one of the skill in the art would not be motivated to formulate the composition of Dias into an emulsion because the peroxyacid oxidizing aids of Dias, which are required components of the compositions of Dias, are difficult to solubilize, especially in an oil-in-water emulsion and, therefore, the combination of the references does not established a prima facie case of obviousness

Art Unit: 1751

The examiner respectfully disagrees with the above arguments for the same reasons given above and also because Dais et al. (US' 355) teaches a dyeing composition having a pH of 10 as described above, and wherein the composition may be formulated in the emulsion form (oil-in-water), which implies that water is a part of the emulsion composition and, thus, there is a sufficient motivation to one having ordinary skill in the art to formulate the composition of Dais in the emulsion form in which the peroxyacid oxidizing aids can be solubilize in the water part of the emulsion. Wenke (US' 436) as a secondary reference teaches a hair dyeing composition having a pH in the range of 6 to 8.5 (dyeing hair from a lighter to a darker shade) and a dyeing composition having a pH in the range of 9 to 10 (dyeing a darker hair to a lighter shade) (see col. 6, lines 40-50). Further in both cases the pH range is either overlapped (9-10) with the claimed range (9.5 to 10) or closed (8.5) to the claimed range (9.5-10), and, thus, both references teach the limitations of the instant amended claims. Therefore, the prima facie case of obviousness has been established.

With respect to the rejection of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), based upon Dais et al. (US' 355), Applicant argues that Dias et al. does not teach or disclose the limitations of the amended claims that required a pH in the range of 9.5 to 11.

The examiner respectfully disagrees with the above arguments for the same reasons given above.

Further, the examiner advise the applicant to provide a clear data or showing to demonstrate that the claimed composition provides unexpected and an obvious results over the composition of the closest prior.

9 THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
